The Key to Success: Implementation of the School's Continuous Improvement Plan

Day: Thursday, November 18, 2010
Session: 10:30 - Noon
Room: Sachem East

Presenters:

John Black – John.Black@azed.gov
School Improvement Director, Southern Region
Arizona Department of Education

Teri Regan – Teri.Regan@azed.gov
School Improvement Director, Northern Region
Arizona Department of Education

Session Description:

The planning process for developing a School Continuous Improvement Plan has been refined and expanded. For many participants the planning and writing of the SCIP is complete. However, the central power of any plan is in its implementation. Using the Arizona School Improvement Planning process, participants will explore the systems, structures and frameworks that promote efficient plan implementation. Once a plan is well into implementation, it must be monitored and evaluated. Participants will be provided a number of monitoring and evaluation methods to ensure the implementation of the plan is on track to meeting the set goals.

Presenter Information:

John Black is the LEA and School Improvement Director for Southern Arizona. John has been an educator for 31 years – 10 years as a classroom teacher, 17 years and elementary and junior high principal, and 4 years in the School Improvement and Intervention Section of the Arizona Department of Education. John has been responsible for ASIP training, Solutions Team training, coordinating the work of the AZ LEARNS staff, and supporting schools that have recently received a SIG grant.

Teri Regan has been in education for close to 31 year. Her Bachelor's Degree is in K-12 Special Education from Illinois State University with her Master's Degree in Public School Administration from University of Alaska, Anchorage. Ms. Regan is an educator with experience in both urban and rural settings. She spent 17 years as a special education teacher, 7 years as elementary school principal and middle school assistant principal. Ms. Regan retired after 24 years and has continued working in a variety of positions since then. Her primary focus has been on school improvement working to develop an afterschool program for rural settings in Alaska, as a school improvement specialist with Alaska Comprehensive Center, as a principal mentor and is currently Director of LEA and School Improvement with Arizona's Department of Education-School Improvement and Intervention.
